

Say Employers Trying To 'Hold Labor Down'

Morse Blasts Taft-Hartley Act Defenders

Washington, Feb. 21—(AP)—Senator Morse (R-Ore.) said today the attitude of many defenders of the Taft-Hartley labor act is "a Judas betrayal of the capitalistic system."

In a sudden onslaught against many of the business spokesmen who have appeared before the Senate labor committee, Morse declared their attitude is "shocking xx selfish xxx class-conscious xxx un-Christian."

But in contrast to these acid words, he praised Senator Taft (R-Ohio), whose name the law bears, for his "fair-minded objectivity" in considering testimony on the "shortcomings" of the Taft-Hartley act.

Morse said he and Taft are "much nearer together" on "the need for a law less drastic against labor" than they were in 1947 when Taft-Hartley was passed.

He issued a statement from his office while the Senate committee was hearing more testimony in defense of Taft-Hartley provisions. Hearings have been going on for three weeks—with two more days to go—on the Truman administration's proposal to junk the present law and substitute a measure much closer to the original Wagner Act.

The Chamber of Commerce promptly challenged Morse to point to any evidence that it has displayed the "un-Christian attitude" that labor is a commodity to be bought as cheaply as possible.

Advocates decent wages

"The chamber has always advocated decent wages and decent working conditions," Chamber President Earl O. Shreve said in a statement.

"Senator Morse spoke of a 'betrayal.' An expression by the chamber of the wishes of its membership cannot fairly be called a betrayal of anybody. The Senator has no right to draw conclusions which cannot be supported."

Shreve said Morse did not question the chamber's representatives who testified before the committee.

Taft, meanwhile, insisted again the basic provisions of the present act will be retained.

He replied at a news conference in Cleveland to a weekend statement by CIO President Philip Murray that the Ohio Senator has made 18 specific "concessions and retreats" which add up to "a reluctant confession" that the act is unworkable.

Taft Concedes Some Portions

Taft conceded labor leaders have presented logical arguments against some portions of the act.

At the committee hearing, meanwhile, Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) denied he was "condemning manufacturers as a class" when he made a remark last week about manufacturers' sons staying home from the war and getting rich. He said that impression, "I certainly regret it, I didn't mean it and I didn't say it."

The National Grange, a farm organization, told the committee it is an "error" to claim that the November election was a mandate for outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley act.

J. T. Sanders, Grange legislative representative, said farmers played "fully as decisive a role" in President Truman's re-election as any other group. He said the Grange believes the Taft-Hartley act has had a "corrective effect" on labor-management relations, though improvements in the law should be made if found to be necessary.

Fleet Sails South As Big Peace Time War Games Begin

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 21—(AP)—Ships of the Atlantic fleet sailed southward tonight to engage in the navy's largest peacetime war games.

Last of a score of vessels departing Norfolk was the amphibious command ship Pocono, flagship of Adm. W. H. P. Blandy, commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet.

Putting to sea at brief intervals throughout the day were the carriers Franklin D. Roosevelt, Leyte and Sicily; the battleship Missouri; a half dozen destroyers and a number of oilers and supply ships.

Fleet units that sailed from Norfolk will join other ships at sea and proceed to the Caribbean. More than 100 ships and 35,000 men will take part in the exercises.

ASKS MAYORS, POLICE APPEAR BEFORE JURY

Rock Island, Ill., Feb. 21—(AP)—State's Attorney Bernard J. Moran today asked mayors and police magistrates of five neighboring cities to appear before a grand jury investigating Rock Island gambling.

Moran sent letters to the officials of Moline, East Moline, Silvas, Rock Island, and Milan. They will begin their appearances Wednesday.

U.S. Prepares To State World Economic Views

Lake Success, Feb. 22—(AP)—Assistant Secretary of State William L. Thorp said today world economic progress is being retarded by political uncertainty and fear.

Thorp spoke before the U.N. economic and social council in the opening day of a general debate on world economic changes in 1948. He will deliver a major speech here late this week on President Truman's program to aid backward areas.

Thorp joined other delegates in a plea for cooperation of all countries in U.N. efforts to study and remedy world economic problems. While

Statistician Sees Stability Between Earnings, Prices

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 21—(AP)—The government's chief labor statistician today foresaw a period of "stable and healthy" relations between earnings and prices in 1949.

Ewan Clague, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, addressed a meeting of the Economic club of Detroit on the trend of prices and wages.

The whole relationship between price reductions and wages, Clague said, "lead us to believe that the readjustment need not be violent nor extreme, and that it can bring us to the threshold of a period of stable and healthy price-income relationships."

Clague told his audience "it does not now look as if this is the beginning of a price collapse like that of 1920."

"If there are some points of similarity, there are more points of difference between 1949 and 1920," he continued.

Clague said that price supports were a factor in the present price levels.

Boy, Six, Facing Death For Third Time In His Life

Hialeah, Fla., Feb. 21—(AP)—David Dempsey is a smiling, plucky lad who is facing death for the third time in his short six years.

Neighbors call the sandy-haired, bright-eyed youngster "the miracle kid" because twice he fooled medical science—and death—to recover when his case was thought hopeless.

First he suffered from a malady which defied exact diagnosis, but which some doctors said was a form of leukemia. They gave him a year to live.

David defied expert attention, and recovered. A happy two years followed.

One day in 1947 David was struck down by an automobile. He hovered between life and death with a fractured skull, brain concussion and fractured leg. But he lived.

Now things are going wrong again. Mrs. Mabel Palmer, David's mother, reported today that once more David had been given about a year to live.

Stomach adhesions have developed which Mrs. Palmer said apparently resulted from the automobile accident. The adhesions are blocking his blood supply. He has had three operations, and a section of his intestines is to be removed in another operation.

"The doctors tell me they're doing all they can but they don't think David will live longer than a year," said Mrs. Palmer. "I'd like to take him to Mayo Clinic, but I don't have the money."

She made an appeal for blood to be deposited in the Dade county blood bank to David's credit.

Jews Battle Berlin Police To Ban 'Oliver Twist' Film

Berlin, Feb. 21—(AP)—Polish Jews battled German police in the heart of Berlin today until they obtained a promise that "Oliver Twist," a British-made film, will not be shown in the city.

Triumphantly singing a Hebrew hymn they dispersed after more than an hour of fighting. They had contended the film character of Fagin, teaching small boys to steal, was anti-semitic.

"If they try to show it again, we'll blow up the cinema," one group shouted.

Henry Durbin, representative of the Eagle Lion studios which produced this film version of the celebrated Charles Dickens novel, said the movie would not be shown in Berlin. Rioting last night prevented its first showing at the same British sector theatre, the Kurbel.

The fight today surged around the famed Kurfurstendamm, a residential street with a large Jewish population. About 25 Jews were injured, their

NLRB Ruling Gives UAW Another Club To Back Demands

Detroit, Feb. 21—(AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers were given another "club" today to use in forthcoming bargaining with the auto industry.

The weapon was a Washington ruling by the National Labor Relations Board. It held General Motors Corp. guilty of an unfair labor practice for attempting to launch a group insurance program without consulting the UAW.

But the million-member auto workers union may never need to use the decision to back its 1949 demands for pensions and medical plans. It had pressed the case only for reserve strength, if needed.

UAW President Walter Reuther disclosed only Saturday that his union is counting on a favorable U.S. supreme court ruling soon in a similar case.

This one was brought by the CIO United Steelworkers against Inland Steel. Although it directly concerns only the matter of pensions, Reuther said he expects the decision to be broad enough to cover medical care plans and life insurance as well.

An aide to Reuther, informed of today's ruling, said it would make a "handy supplement" to the Inland Steel case if the high court decision is limited to pensions.

232 Persons Killed As Wall Collapses On Food Dole Line

Lisbon, Portugal, Feb. 21—(AP)—Governor Jooa De Figueiredo announced today that 232 persons assembled for a food dole were killed yesterday when a huge wall collapsed in Praia, capital of the Cape Verde islands.

Many of the victims were women and children. Forty-seven of the more seriously injured were removed from the rubble and hospitalized.

The governor of the Portuguese colony also announced that the Bishop of Cape Verde will officiate at a mass funeral for the dead. Church bells in the city tolled today and flags were at half-staff. All offices and shops were closed.

The distribution of free meals to the poor continued without interruption as it has since a famine struck the islands off northwest Africa three years ago.

UAW Handbills FE Without Violence As Police Watch

East Moline, Ill., Feb. 21—(AP)—Scattered jeers and a few boos greeted CIO United Auto Workers officials today when they passed out handbills to rival CIO Farm Equipment Workers at the International Harvester company gate. There was no violence.

Sixty police patrolled the area where the UAW organizers and FE members clashed in a bloody, 20-minute brawl Feb. 10.

The FE had collective bargaining rights at the plant. The CIO executive board has ordered the FE to merge with the UAW but it has refused.

Included among those who passed out leaflets today were Emil Mazey, national secretary-treasurer of the UAW, and John Livingston, national vice-president of the union. Also distributing the leaflets were other UAW officers and members of the executive board.

In addition, some 50 UAW members stood to one side of the gate and watched the distribution. Many of the FE men took the handbills and tore them up.

Judge Drops Suit Accusing Couple Of Kidnaping Girl

Waterloo, Ia., Feb. 21—(AP)—District Judge Shannon B. Charlton today dismissed a habeas corpus action brought by County Attorney Blair Wood in connection with what Wood had described as the disappearance of a 14-year-old mother and her baby.

George Stoneking, 51, and his wife were named as defendants in the proceedings by which Wood sought to require them to produce Mrs. Stoneking's young sister.

Judge Charlton held that the state had failed to prove its allegation that the young mother was being restrained by the Stoneking's against her will at the Highway Cafe the Stoneking's operate north of the city.

The attorney for Stoneking said the girl last was seen by the Stoneking's on Feb. 6 and that she had been living in Waterloo. He said the girl had been loaned $14 by the Stoneking's so she could go to her mother's home in Chicago.

Sheriff H. T. Wagner reported, however, that word had been received that the girl went to Des Moines instead of Chicago.

The beaver is the largest rodent in North America. Large specimens weigh the scales at more than 60 pounds.

Hoover Commission Urges Drastic Overhaul Of State Department

Washington, Feb. 21—(AP)—The Hoover Commission called today for a thorough-going overhaul of the state department, and broad revisions in this country's machinery for dealing with foreign relations.

Among other things, it said President Truman should have a freer hand in directing such relations, and a better setup for getting sound advice.

It also said the constitutional requirement of a two-thirds vote in the Senate to confirm treaties is a "serious trouble breeder" although it did not specifically suggest a change.

In calling for a major shakeup of the state department, the commission declared that the department has fallen to a level of "low esteem" with congress, the public, the press and many of its own officials.

The commission, headed by former President Herbert Hoover, cited the department's intelligence branch as the "weakest and least effective" of its units.

As for the department's low rating, the commission said it resulted from an "intolerable" overload of foreign-aid and other special tasks heaped upon the shoulders of the secretary of state and the under-secretary.

Because of this burden, it said, the nation's top diplomats have "little time for thoughtful and considerate reflection on foreign affairs problems."

Moreover, it said in a report to congress, under existing conditions President Truman has only a "partial and limited perspective" in reaching grave decisions on foreign affairs.

It renewed a suggestion that the White House should set up a series of special cabinet-level committees to advise the president on specific important issues.

In general, the report declared that American machinery for dealing with other nations is full of flaws and loose play.

As remedies, the commission laid down a list of 22 recommendations. Among other things, it singled out the state department's relations with the press and public for sharp criticism.

By coincidence, as vice chairman of the Hoover group, Secretary of State Acheson had a direct hand in preparation of its report before Mr. Truman put him in charge of the state department last month. Acheson has already started carrying out some of the recommendations.

The report on foreign affairs was the fifth in a series submitted to congress by Chairman Hoover and his commission on organization of the executive branch of the government. The group has been at work for two years, aiming toward greater efficiency and economy in federal operations.

Unlike earlier proposals, the commission today forecast no immediate savings from reorganizing the foreign affairs operations now scattered among 46 government departments and agencies. It said present functions are "crucial and necessary" and cannot be curtailed.

Cox Blasts House Scheme To Block Vets Pension Bill

Washington, Feb. 21—(AP)—A scheme by House administration lieutenants to keep a veterans pension bill from reaching the House floor blew up today.

Rep. Cox (D-Ga.) told the House he would not be a party to it. He said that if the rules committee ever approves the bill he will call it up for debate. As a member of the committee, he has that right.

Under a new House rule, Chairman Rankin (D-Miss.) can call the bill up on the House floor next March 14 if the rules committee does not approve it before then.

The administration does not want the bill brought to a vote because (1) it expects the House would pass it since many legislators hesitate to vote against any veteran bill, and (2) the cost—running into billions of dollars—would upset government financial plans. The bill would give veterans $90 a month when they reach age 65.

Hopes To See Day When Comic Books Make Kids Laugh

Chicago, Feb. 21—(AP)—The American Municipal association says it hopes to see the day when comic books become funny.

When the garish books bring grins and laughter to the faces of the young readers, instead of the grim concentration with which they are now read, parents and civic and enforcement authorities will breathe easier, the association said today.

Right now, many of the oldersters are as ruthless as some comic strip villains in campaigns to turn the comic characters from murder and mayhem.

Tacoma, Wash., Rochester, N. Y., Terre Haute, Ind. and Los Angeles county Calif. have ordinances to curb objectionable comics. The comic book industry itself, is trying out a self-censorship program on a Hays-office basis.

In at least 31 cities, the association reported, comic book distributors are cooperating with committees or municipal officials to curb the sale of the bloodier books.

LANDSLIDE KILLS TWO

Ponta Delgada, Azores, Feb. 21—(AP)—A mountain landslide on the Azores island of S. Miguel today partly buried the village of Mala and killed two persons.

A mother and her daughter were trapped inside their home while villagers fled. The slide was caused by recent heavy rains.

Amnesia-Stricken Bride Sees Hubby As Strange Man

Seattle, Feb. 21—(AP)—A 27-year-old amnesia-stricken bride of three months today realized she was married but could remember nothing of her life from 1944 to 1949.

Since she was struck on the head by a 12-pound theater seat cushion thrown by an 11-year-old boy a week ago, Mrs. Herts Sudegen has suffered amnesia. She doesn't remember her marriage to W. K. Sudegen, a driver for the Seattle Transit System.

Her mother-in-law, Mrs. E. E. Sudegen, said her son had taken to his wife of their marriage last Nov. 23 and showed her the wedding license and the guest book of the wedding reception.

"She realizes she is married, but remembers nothing of the ceremony or events leading up to the marriage," the mother said.

Norway Will Now Sign Alliance

Washington, Feb. 21—(AP)—A highly placed source said today the United States would give assurances in the proposed North Atlantic pact that she would not stand idly by if any of the signers is attacked.

The exact language of the promise remains to be worked out in final form, but the assurance apparently was enough for Norway. At Oslo, Foreign Minister Halvard M. Lange announced that Norway would pin her security to the pact.

This decision is in the face of Russian demands for Norway to stay out of the proposed security alliance.

The informant who spoke of the assurances to be given in the proposed treaty is an administration leader in congress, who cannot be further identified. He said a clause in the treaty will leave no doubt about this nation's determination to resist aggression.

Caused Dismay In Europe

In England and elsewhere, considerable dismay had been expressed when Senate foreign policy leaders made it clear about a week ago they would not go along with an "automatic war" clause in the treaty.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the Senate foreign relations committee and Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) believe such a clause would bypass congress' right to declare war.

But an official said today, Secretary of State Acheson has reached an understanding with the foreign relations committee on the nature of the assurances.

Acheson is scheduled to meet with the next day or two with representatives of Canada and the European countries taking part in the talks.

The state department hopes to present the pact to congress in a month, and to back it up with a multi-billion dollar military aid program for western Europe.

Isolation Won't Help

Norway's decision to go along with the west had been generally anticipated. Foreign Minister Lange told a news conference in Oslo that bitter experience has convinced his country that neutrality and isolation will not protect her. He cited the German invasion of 1940.

With the final treaty talks approaching, the state department went ahead with plans for the arms program expected to supply more than $3,000,000,000 worth of armaments to Europe. The amount would include surplus army stocks now on hand.

The program is expected to call for appropriation of more than $1,000,000,000 in the first year.

Unlike the alliance, such a program must have the approval of the House and the Senate. The North Atlantic pact will be presented as a treaty, requiring two-thirds approval of the Senate.

No decision has yet been made on who would head up the program to rearm western Europe, state department officials said.

Faints At Wheel As Husband Rides With First Wife

Rockford, Ill., Feb. 21—(AP)—Mr. John Guglielmetti, 21, blamed her automobile accident today on a fainting spell after "I got angrier and angrier" while her husband sat in the back seat with his first wife.

The Guglielmettis, Mele Eliau, his former wife, and Robert Banks, a friend, received cuts and bruises in the accident yesterday. Mrs. Guglielmetti fainted and the car went out of control. It hit a traffic signal and rammed a utility pole.

Deputy Sheriff Donald King said she told this story:

Her husband and Banks had been drinking in a tavern. They were seen by Miss Eliau who telephoned Mrs. Guglielmetti that her husband was in no condition to drive. Mrs. Guglielmetti came to the tavern and after an argument with her husband about who was to drive, she took the wheel.

Her husband sat in the back seat with Miss Eliau. Banks sat with Mrs. Guglielmetti. She said she became "angrier and angrier" about her husband's condition and fainted. The accident happened a few blocks from Miss Eliau's home.

Problem: A-Bomb Protection Without Revealing Secrets

Washington, Feb. 21—(AP)—Government officials said today they haven't been able to figure out a way to tell Americans—and not everyone else—how to protect themselves against A-bombs.

Their dilemma, Atomic Energy Commission officials said, is how to spread the information in this country without letting the whole world in on it.

Commission Manager Carroll L. Wilson conceded the agency has no plan for protecting a major defense area, such as Norfolk, Va., in the event of an A-bomb explosion there.

And Commissioner Lewis Strauss commented: "The best protection is to be somewhere else when a bomb goes off."

The issue was raised by members of the Congressional Atomic Energy committee.

Rep. Holifield (D-Cal.) said that since taxpayers "are paying about a half billion dollars a year for atomic developments, they should know how to protect themselves against a bomb."

Wilson said the commission is trying to induce contractors to develop "a rugged reliable instrument" to detect radiation. It would have to be capable of operation by anyone without prior instruction, he said.

The agency is now working with the armed forces on a booklet on radiation which may be out within three or four months, Wilson said.

In advance of the meeting, Rep. Price (D-Ill.) renewed a demand that a report on the Bikini bomb test be made public.

Price, a member of the committee, said he will ask it to try to persuade Secretary of Defense Forrestal to make public a report prepared by a joint chiefs of staff board.

"Even the Russians were allowed to observe the tests," Price told newsmen, "but the American public has been kept in the dark."

STILL HAS BIG IDEAS

Henry Wallace, one of the worst defeated presidential candidates in U. S. history, still talks in big figures. In a Washington interview he proposed a budget of 54 billion dollars. And he would lop seven billions off the military figures. The extra money would all be spent for better health, better housing, better education and the like.
And how would he balance the budget? Easy. Instead of raising taxes, he would eliminate them for all families earning $4,000 or less and borrow two billions from the social security reserves. Two years later he would abolish this reserve fund entirely and put social security on a pay-as-you-go basis.
Wallace's exaggerated vision on domestic finances is still matched by his myopia regarding Russia. He wants to take Russia into the U. S. aid program. All of which reinforces the convictions of the 98 per cent of the U. S. voters who would have no part of his so-called Progressive party.

G. I. TRAINING FOR FELLER

Bob Feller, the $72,000-a-year Cleveland pitcher, who spent four years in the navy, will benefit from the G. I. school program to the extent of $300 to $500. He will take a federal-approved course in advanced flying and the government will pay for it. Feller says he needs a plane to fly from Cleveland to his various business interests.
Feller doesn't need this government aid, but the government made no exceptions in enacting the program and we see nothing wrong in his taking benefits of it.
His case is much different from that of Ken Keltner, another Cleveland star, who a few years ago applied for unemployment benefits during his winter layoff. Ball players are paid on a yearly basis, and in the big leagues, at least, ought to be able to pay their winter grocery bills.

BUT IT AIN'T SMORGASBORD

(From the Chicago Tribune)
Those who, like us, like to heap up the plate with appetizers peculiar to the Swedish cuisine will be dismayed by the ruling of Food Inspector George Petty of Cleveland that smorgasbord be put under glass. His authority for this is a section of the municipal code ruling that no meat or poultry can be exhibited except under glass or adequate screening.
This position represents so benighted an outlook that it can only be guessed that Mr. Petty has never sampled the joys of going down the long smorgasbord table and judiciously making his selection of this and that. For it is the job of the smorgasbord to enable the diner to help himself. Put the stuff under glass and this would be impossible. The dinner would no longer be smorgasbord.
To these objections Mr. Petty obdurately rejoins, "You can hardly expect the department of food administration to be deviated from duty by a Swedish tradition." This is fully as logical as saying that Eskimos ought not to enjoy a tallow candle for dessert unless it comes wrapped in cellophane with a certification under the pure food laws. The Eskimos are not troubled by such concerns, nor, as long as Mr. Petty guarantees the cleanliness of the kitchen, will addicts worry about the lack of glass over their smorgasbord.

Let's recognize honesty and efficiency in city government.

More Pleasure In Growing Young Than In Growing Up

By HAL BOYLE

Athens, Ga. —P.—Sometime, somewhere, an oak tree is going to decide to grow back into an acorn again.
It's going to do it just for the heck of it—just for fun. It's going to do it just because it suddenly decided there's more pleasure in growing young than there is in growing up.
And there is.
Trying to grow younger gracefully has been a lifelong hobby with me. At least it has been ever since I discovered the prime curse of civilization is it tends to make people old before their time. But why should anybody ever grow old inside?
The oldest people today are the young people. They are a sad people, too, in a way that only old young people can be sad.
Brought Back Memories
This has been impressed upon me anew by a weekend attendance at the Georgia Press Institute here, home of the University of Georgia. I felt a curious kinship with the students here, because meeting and talking to them brought back memories of a time when I was as elderly and troubled in spirit as they are. I survived those bitter days—my own four year sentence to college life—and I think they will, too. And years and years later, they will suddenly find themselves younger and happier.
Growing up is an awful troubling experience. I don't know why people go through with it. Because once you are grown up, you realize immediately that the only thing to do is to try to grow back the other way again. That is, to try to grow young and smart and fresh of mind again.
For the heart and mind are the only true calendars of age. There is no fool like an old fool, yes. But there is no greater fool than one who lets himself be old before he buys a tombstone.

Advantages Of Growing Up
What are the real advantages of growing up? If just growing up taught a man or woman to be tolerant, gentle, kind and modest, it would be a wonderful thing. If growing up made a man or woman more selfless and anxious to serve his kind or fashion the world into a fairer garden, it would be a fine thing, too.
That is really growing up. But that kind of growing up usually is measured by suffering or loss rather than the number of candles on a birthday cake. The agony of an instant often adds more stature to many years. People generally grow up—or fall apart—after they learn they are going to have to do without, forever, something or someone that meant almost as much to them as breath. Otherwise growing up is pretty much an undignified catalogue of minor physical changes—all bad. You bulge out where you used to be thin. The barber spends less and less time cutting the hair on your head. He spends more and more time weeding it out of your ears. You have fewer dreams—but you walk in your sleep more in the day time.
"Hope Of Tomorrow"
No wonder kids in college feel sad. The world calls them "the hope of tomorrow" because it isn't ready for them—or their ideals—today. They have reached the peak. They are crossing that mystic chasm between childhood and adulthood, that one-way bridge called "growing up."
And once they cross it, they will learn all the years of their lives to go back again to the rainbow morning behind. That is what Wordsworth meant when he wrote "The Child is Father to the Man." The daddy of every man is the boy he himself used to be, when he and the world were young together.
But today, in these odd times, only little children and very old people are wise enough to be young. The children haven't learned hypocrisy, and the old people—well, they don't need it any more.

The idea of a gas turbine is a very old one, but only in recent years has progress in aerodynamic design and metallurgy made it practical.

Girls To Report To "Y" Club On Youth Conference

The 14 girls from Jacksonville High school who attended the 1949 Illinois Youth Conference held Feb. 18 at Bloomington will give detailed reports of the conference at the regular meeting of the Y.M.C.A. sponsored clubs which they represented.
Each of the girls attending participated in one of the following discussion groups: "Boy-Girl Friendships," "Personality Development," "Philosophy of Life," "Getting Along with Parents," and "After High School—What?" These discussions were conducted by adult leaders considered experts in their field. The morning and most of the afternoon session were devoted to these discussion groups. Reports from each group were heard during the general assembly period which followed.
In the evening, a dinner was served, after which the groups enjoyed a song service at the Bloomington Y.W.C.A. The main address was given by Dr. Robert Pierce, pastor of the Glencoe Methodist church. A candlelight dedication ceremony concluded the conference.
Local girls attending included Joanne Beasley, Barbara Davidsmeyer, Joan Harber, Alleane Roegge and Clara Joe Merriman, representing Alpha Tri-Hi-Y; Mary Jean Bailey, Dovie Sooy and Betty Townsley, Delta Tri-Hi-Y; Nina Douglas, Jean Norton and Margaret Norvell, Beta Tri-Hi-Y; and Jeris Ann Bates, Billy Jean Clemmons and Louise Ford, Gamma Tri-Hi-Y. Miss Mabel Ruyle, adviser for Alpha Tri-Hi-Y, accompanied the group. Cars were furnished by Mrs. B. Clemons, Tom Cornish and Paul T. Hartman, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A.

Levisens Will Appeal Case To Supreme Court

Carrollton—A hearing on a motion in arrest of judgment was heard Monday morning in Greene county court in connection with the case of Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Levisen of Greenfield, who were convicted Feb. 4 on charges of violating the Illinois school law by keeping their seven year old daughter, Carolyn, out of school.
The motion was denied by Judge Julian Hutchens and the defendants were fined ten dollars each and costs.
The attorneys for the defense asked that they be allowed to appeal to the supreme court of Illinois. The appeal was allowed and an appeal bond was fixed in the sum of $300.
Mr. and Mrs. Levisen maintain that they have the right to tutor their daughter at home.

POP Goes the QUEEN

By Bob Wade and Bill Miller

THE STORY: John Henry and Sin Conover, vacationing at a swank resort, witness the death of a man named Homer Anglin. Later their cottage is occupied by Faye Jordan in a "reservation mixup" and their luggage is searched. But a mechanical pen containing a cipher message which Anglin slipped into John Henry's pocket before he died is not found by the searchers. John Henry is taken to a gambling ranch by Faye and drugged. Meanwhile, Sin has been warned against "interference" by Samson Robottom, an archeologist, and she is frightened. When she spies Gayner, the hotel clerk, acting mysteriously, she follows him. He goes to the back door of the ship of the Desert, a safe where Anglin died.

XIX

SIN peeked between the spines of a fan-shaped palm leaf. From her hiding place among the music racks on the bandstand, she watched Gayner come down the stairs from the second floor balcony and cross to the fiber tunnel that concealed the swinging kitchen doors. A moment later, she heard the far-away slam of the restaurant's back door.

To be safe, she waited as long as she could and then let out her breath. A church hush lay over the Ship of the Desert. She was all alone in the dead restaurant. Sin began to feel more foolish than nervous. She had followed Gayner here without trouble—but what next? She'd have a hard time explaining to anyone, even an unbiased judge, what exactly she was doing trespassing. For that matter, she didn't even know herself.

Sin slipped down off the bandstand and tiptoed over to the twisted ironwork staircase that led to the balcony. Since she was trespassing anyway, she might as well make a good job of it.

Sin climbed the stairs, stepping carefully so her sandals wouldn't scrape on the tile steps. At the top, she paused to listen. She heard nothing to keep her from opening the door to the office which Gayner had just quitted.

The leather-paneled room was melancholy in the scant bars of sunlight that fell across carpet and desk top. Cigarette smoke still hung in the air.

There was nothing interesting in sight, so Sin tried the desk drawers. They were unlocked. In the center drawer, under an open pack of cigarettes, was a sheet of papers held together by a wire clip. She sat down in the big chair and liberated the sheets from the imprisoning clip.

THE papers were all maps apparently of the area surrounding Azure, the Salton Sea and Borego Valley. The first one was labeled in ink: "Flood of 1849." Pencil under this was the handwritten notation, "Very rough reconstruction—prob. inaccurate." A large area of the drawing had been shaded, most of it lying south of Azure.

The next map was no more explicit. The date was 1891. Again a portion of the map was shaded but Sin discovered by comparison that the area was slightly smaller than on the first map, and more oval.

The date on the third map was 1905-07 and it was titled: "Formation of S/S." The familiar darkened area was present, but the topography was drawn in greater detail, with place names added. Sin recognized Highway 99 which they had followed north from Brawley to Azure. At the southern tip of the Santa Rosa Mountains, another and smaller section had been shaded, its vertical lines superimposed on the horizontal stripes of the larger expanse. A cross had been drawn in pencil at a spot in this area and a notation made.

The rest of the papers were heavier and glossier—aerial photographs of desert country on which she distinguished nothing familiar. She laid them aside and went back to the drawings with labels.

Sin squinted at the 1905-07 map in the brown light and then held it up to catch a little of the brightness filtering through the Venetian blinds.

LIGHT, torrents of it, flooded the office. Sin shrieked and jumped up.

"Bad for your eyes, Mrs. Conover—reading in the dark," Vernon lisped. He leaned sorrowfully in the doorway, his hand still on the light switch.

Sin swallowed and tried to say something. All that came out of her dry throat was a croak.

Vernon moved toward the desk. Sin backed away, her hands outstretched to ward him off. The maps floated to the carpet. "I'll scream," she whispered.

Vernon shook his head mournfully and Sin saw for the first time that he was pointing a gun at her—a short gray automatic that matched the lapels and trouser-strips of his maroon uniform. "Don't scream," he said, looking the happiest that Sin had seen him. "Keep quiet and you might be all right." He raised his voice. "All right."

Gayner stepped through the open doorway and regarded their captive with chilly amusement. "I hope we didn't give you too much of a shock, Mrs. Conover," he said pleasantly. "But you can understand we had to take certain precautions. Vernon, I believe you may put away the gun. Mrs. Conover realizes that she'll have to do as we say."

Vernon appeared displeased as he slipped the automatic under the tail of his tunic into a hip pocket.

"What do you want from me?" Sin quavered, her eyes darting between the two. Her lips were trembling so that it was an effort to form the words.

Gayner said heartily, "That's exactly what I was going to ask you. And I wouldn't be surprised if Mr. Barsclou didn't repeat the same question. Don't make him repeat it too often."

"Start thinking up a good answer," Vernon advised her.

Protestant Laymen At Virginia Form New Organization

Virginia—A meeting of lay persons, representing the Protestant churches of Virginia, was held at the hotel coffee shop Wednesday night, to organize a group of laymen to better coordinate the activities of the churches.

Allen Dieren was elected chairman of the organization, with C. R. Wilson, vice-chairman, and Henry George McDonald, secretary.

Plans were made for a meeting of all the men of all churches to be held at the Presbyterian church dining room on the evening of Ash Wednesday. A prominent speaker has been secured for the program to follow the dinner. An open forum will be held, led by H. M. Knight.

It is also planned to cooperate with the Kiwanis club in the sponsorship of the annual Easter breakfast.

To Buy Equipment For Arenzville Hall

Arenzville—Mrs. John Fricke was hostess to the Home Bureau at her home Thursday afternoon. During the business meeting it was voted to donate toward a fund to be used to purchase dishes for the Legion and Community hall.

Mrs. Florence Noble presented the major lesson "Six Guides to a Well Designed Dress." The minor lesson "Courtesy Notes" was given by Mrs. George Morrison.

Guests included Mrs. Winifred Neuerdorf, Mrs. George Manker and children and Mrs. Alvin Grope and daughter Lynn. There were 14 members present. Mrs. Manker became a member.

IT'S CHANGED NOW

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar M. Petefish were honored at a dinner party celebrating their fifty-fifth wedding anniversary, at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Kathryn Grady and grandson, Farrell McDonald, 101 East Michigan avenue. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Thompson, Miss Ruth Stubblefield, and Mrs. Ella Davis.

House and table decorations were in keeping with the occasion. Linen and dishes used at the dinner have been in the family since 1894.

The large wedding cake was used for the centerpiece. Spring cut flowers decorated rooms of the home.

The day was spent socially and several oldtime friends called to visit Mr. and Mrs. Petefish and extend congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Petefish have always lived in or near Jacksonville. They were united Feb. 21, 1894, at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gish, near Concord. Mr. Petefish followed the occupation of farming for many years. They now make their home east of Litterberry.

Millikin Five Upsets Illinois College 90-69 In CCI Conference Tilt

Al Miller's Blueboys virtually lost all chances of taking first place in the CCI conference when they fell before the Big Blue of Millikin last night: 90-69 at the Kitter gymnasium in Decatur.

The Hilltoppers were thus thrust back into second place tie with Wheaton—both with records of 6 wins and two losses. Wesleyan stands alone at the top of the heap with seven wins and only one loss. I.C. still has a slight chance to top C.C. honors. If Wesleyan should lose to Augustana, and if the Miller-men take their last two conference games from Lake Forest and Elmhurst, the Blueboys might yet come out on top.

But according to past showings and present ratings, that's a mighty big if.

Last night's 21 point victory by the Big Blue was a blow to the I.C. aggregation and the I.C. fans, who were expecting an easy win in view of Millikin's last two losses. The Millikin five jumped to an early 3 to 1 lead, and kept the narrow edge through the first half, leading 36-33 at the intermission.

The Miller-men came back in the second half and during the first five minutes the lead changed hands.

Dosh, Arenzville Take Wins In 1st Round Of Tourney

The playoff for the state championship cage team was inaugurated at the Arenzville district meet last night where Meredosia took a 46-43 cage fracas from Franklin. The game was close during the first half, but in the third quarter Franklin seemed to gain the upper hand and forged ahead 34-24. However, the Meredosia quint came back strong in the last frame and eked out a slim three point win.

Rawlings of Franklin was high point man for this tilt garnering 13 tallies. Neuman was high for the winners with 14.

In the second game of the evening Arenzville trampled a much weaker Chapin team to a 40 to 46 victory. The home five jumped to a 14-2 lead in the initial canto and led the slats from there on.

B. Wessler, the Arenzville pivot man, lead the scorers with 24 points. Bonds was high for the losers with 18.

In the second round Perry meets Bluffs tonight in the elimination process. The winner of this tourney will compete in the Jacksonville regional meet to be held at the I.S.D. gym.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Chicago, Feb. 21.—(P)—Livestock price trends were mixed today. Hogs were steady to 50 cents lower, calves steady to 50 cents higher, cattle steady to $1.00 lower, and sheep unevenly 25 cents higher to 25 lower.

Most good and choice barbs at $17.75 to $21.25. Top price was $21.50. Sows took $15.50 to $17.75 and a top of $18.00. An estimated 1,000 head were held over as unsold.

Steers topped at $28.00, most good to low-choice kinds taking $23.00 to $26.50. Medium and good heifers made $21.00 to $24.25, while beef cows topped at $20.00, sausage bulls at $23.50, and vealers mostly at $31.00.

Good and choice lambs sold between $24.50 and $25.25, the top. Medium and good material was $22.50 to $24.00. Choice light ewes ran as high as $12.00.

Salable receipts included 11,000 hogs, 12,000 cattle, 700 calves, and 2,500 sheep.

GRAINS, SOYBEANS, LARD ADVANCE UNDER WHEAT'S LEADERSHIP

Chicago, Feb. 21.—(P)—Wheat lead a mid advance in grains, soybeans and lard on the board of trade today. There was nothing spectacular about the gains or the volume of trading, but the market had a firm tone right from the start through to the close.

Some buying in wheat followed trade reports of another boost in the price. The Kansas City Commodity Credit Corporation office will pay for cash wheat. It was offering to pay 37 cents a bushel over the Kansas City May future for February delivery at the Gulf of Mexico, it was said.

This was a hike of 14 cents a bushel in the premium compared with last Friday. A couple of advances in the premium also were made last week.

Private cables from Europe over the week-end again mentioned inadequate rainfall in many eastern and southwestern areas. In Rumania, it was said the winter wheat acreage reached only 50 per cent of the goal because of dryness during the seedling season.

Receipts were: Wheat 11 cars, corn 102, oats 55 and soybeans 13. Wheat closed 1-1/2 higher, May $2.14-1/2, corn was 1-1/2 higher, May $1.26-1/2, oats were 1-1/2 higher, May $1.14-1/2, soybeans were 2-1/2 higher, March $2.30-1/2, and lard was 2 to 10 cents a hundred pounds higher, March $12.62.

Elgin Still Rated Top Title Choice Despite Two Weekend Defeats

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 21.—(P)—Despite two weekend defeats, Elgin still held on today as the No. 1 downstate choice for the Illinois prep basketball crown.

The Maroons dropped a 54-43 verdict Saturday to strong Oak Park after West Aurora wrecked their perfect 17 game record with a one point decision the night before.

But most sports writers in the Associated Press ninth weekly poll apparently charged up the setbacks to absence from the Elgin lineup of Bob Peterson, 6-7 pivotman and team top scorer. Peterson has the measles, but may be ready against tonight.

Elgin, a heavy favorite throughout the season, was the No. 1 selection on 11 of 15 ballots in the latest poll.

Danville In Second
Two voted for Danville, which wound up regular play by blazing past Urbana and Mattoon and shouldered Teutopolis for the No. 2 berth in the ratings.

Teutopolis, demoted to the third spot, and Mt. Vernon, which retained fourth billing, each drew a single No. 1 nomination.

The elite 15 list did not include any of the 310 small schools which launch the month long championship eliminations in 49 district tournaments, some of them beginning tonight.

Towering Center Leads Badgers To Win Over I.S.B.

A six foot, six inch center on the Wisconsin School for the Visually Handicapped basketball team was too much for the Illinois School for the Blind Warriors to handle. The Wisconsin cagers defeated the Illinois team 40 to 19 in a contest played Saturday night at Janesville, Wis.

The giant center, whose name is Mullett, succeeded in controlling the ball most of the time, scoring 22 points. Clayton Augsburg led the Jacksonville crew with nine points.

The score was close until the middle of the second quarter when Wisconsin height and knowledge of the home floor played off.

Another meeting of the Wisconsin and Illinois teams is scheduled for March 5 on the Illinois floor.

To Arrange YMCA Meet Wednesday

An invitational tournament for the independent basketball teams of Morgan county will be held March 7-12 at the David Prince gym, under the auspices of the local Y.M.C.A.

Closing date for entry blanks and fees will be Wednesday, Feb. 23. A meeting of the team manager or some other representative will be conducted Wednesday evening at the Y. During this session, pairings will be made.

New York Stock Market

Declines were mostly fractional and a handful of issues tacked on small gains.

The day's business dropped to one of the lowest figures in months. Turnover was at the rate of 550,000 shares for the full session which would compare with Friday's 690,000, also a small total.

Some market men took the day off entirely to take advantage of tomorrow's recess in observance of Washington's birthday.

Losers most of the time included Union Pacific, Texas Co., Twentieth Century-Fox, International Paper, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Steel and Bethlehem Steel.

Making a better showing were Republic Steel, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward and American Airlines.

Railroad issues tended downward in the bond market with some N. Y. Central obligations off more than a point. U. S. government issues held steady in over-the-counter dealings.

BETTER MECHANICS
It requires a longer time to get an airplane mechanic's license than a pilot's license. The mechanic must have had at least two years' practical experience in a shop; only 200 hours of solo time is required of a transport pilot.

Winchester Takes Cage Tilt From Mt. Sterling 86-49

Winchester trounced Mt. Sterling last night on the Winchester floor by a 86 to 49 score. The home five forged ahead in the first canto and stayed there for the remainder of the game.

The Mt. Sterling quint tried hard, but they just couldn't keep up with the high-stepping home team. Both teams were generous with substitutes throughout the contest. All in all twenty men saw action in the tilt.

Hankins of the Winchester aggregation garnered 33 points to pace both teams in the evening's play. Steinbeck was high man for the losers with 10 tallies.

The Winchester reserves took the preliminary contest by a 74 to 49 margin.

Indiana Gives Ohio State Five 65 To 45 Setback

Bloomington, Ind., Feb. 21.—(P)—Indiana University overtook Ohio State in the Big Nine basketball race tonight by clubbing the visiting Buckeyes 65-45. The victory gave Indiana a five and five record in loop play and was Ohio State's sixth loss in 11 games.

The Hoosiers, paced by Bill Garrett and Lou Watson, thus avenged a previous 72-59 loss suffered to Ohio State at Columbus. It was the Buckeyes' second successive league reverse after dropping a 62-56 decision to Northwestern Saturday.

Indiana never was pressed as it took the lead in the opening 20 seconds and fire-wagoned to a 25-19 halftime lead. The Hoosiers, using only six players, held Ohio State's high scoring triumvirate to only 28 points.

Center Bob Raiziger led Buckeye scoring with 16 points, Dick Schickler was held to nine and Bob Donham collected only three. Garrett and Watson each hit for 18 on Indiana and Jerry Stuteville canned 13.

The Hoosiers simply would not let up in their fast breaking play and Ohio State never had a chance in the second half. More than 10,000 fans watched the season's home finale for the Indiana team.

Minnesota Downs Michigan State In 57 To 47 Fray

East Lansing, Mich., Feb. 21.—(P)—Minnesota, currently fighting for the Western Conference basketball championship, had too much team play here tonight as the Gophers downed Michigan State, 57 to 47, in fore 8:25 fans.

The Spartans made a strong finish, fighting on almost even terms during the second half but the half-time Minnesota lead of 34-20 was too much to overcome.

The Gophers, who had been expected to coast to an easy win, had to pay their first team through most of the game to keep Michigan State from a contending position.

Michigan State tried to solve the problem of bottling up Jim McIntyre, high scoring Minnesota center, by detailing two men to guard him. The only trouble was the Spartans could not spare extra men to worry the rest of the Minnesota men.

McIntyre made only two field goals before the intermission. His two Spartan guards crowded him so close, however, that the Big Gopher center also picked up six points on free throws in the first half.

Meanwhile, Minnesota forwards Whitey Skoog and Bud Grant were left unprotected and each dumped in four field goals before the midpoint of the game.

The only time MSC threatened was when the Spartans crept up to trail 15-18 at the 13-minute mark. Minnesota was ahead 34-20 at the half.

McIntyre was pulled out when there were only seven minutes left to play but he had picked up three more field goals for a 16-point total before he retired. Grant was just behind his teammate with 15 points for the evening.

High man for MSC was Forward Bob Gehan with 14 points.

Rockets And Tigers Play At Home Tonight; Crimson To Roodhouse

The three Jacksonville prep basketball teams whittle their remaining cage card down to a single game tonight when they play off the next-to-last contest on their charts.

The Rount Rockets entertain Athens on the Our Saviour's planks in two games this evening—the first bout getting underway at 7 p.m. Spike Wilson's boys from the west-end play host to Gillespie in a couple of frays beginning at the same time, and the Crimson five from Jacksonville high takes a trip to Roodhouse for a bout with the Railroader crew.

Tigers Own Best Record
Spike Wilson's Tiger crew owns the best of the high school outfits—his team, just back from a successful invasion of Missouri where they dumped both Louisiana high and Missouri school for the dear old week end, own a season's standing of 15 wins and 7 defeats. They are also city champs by virtue of wins over Rount high and the Crimson.

The westenders will wind up their chart Friday night when they entertain the Roodhouse quint on the I.S.D. slats. Then, they are slated to go against Rount in the initial encounter of the regional played at their place.

Rockets Have Good Record
Paul Stroud and his Rocket five are not far behind the Wisconsin when it comes to rattling the lives on paper. The Rount lads have won 14 tallies and dropped 7 to show for their season's efforts. They'll be out to better that record this evening when they battle it out with a tough Athens bunch.

The Rockets have been rated the number-one team in the Jacksonville regional this year. The Tiger's win over them was recorded in the east-sider's opening game, and then came as a one-point victory. Experts have it doped that the Rockets have improved more than I.S.D. and consequently the two fives have been pitted against each other in the opening regional bout. Rount rated number-one and I.S.D. pushed down to the fifth spot.

Tonight's bout will be staged on Our Saviour's court, with the first game beginning at 7 p.m.—second game at 8 p.m.

M.S.M. League Basketball Dope

By Bob Duerwer

With only three more conference games on tap and all of them meaningful little more than just an appetizer to the record, the eyes of the loop will be turned on the coming state sponsored tournaments. This week the M.S.M. sends their two smaller schools into the Farmersville district. Girard, the conference champions, will be one of the favorites to carry off this affair although they will have to beat three other topflight teams, Farmersville and the two clubs that played in that famous 10-4 ball game of last week. Riverton and Pawnee. Girard, supporting a 19 and 4 record tangle with the winner of the Riverton-Diverson first round game on Thursday night, Girard was rated number two and drew a first round bye. Diverson (8-14) the other conference representative may give Riverton a rough go in that first game since Elsie Meyer's boys have been coming right along, winning four out of their last five games.

The other schools will be warming up for the regionals with regular scheduled games this week. Two teams assigned to the Virden regional. Virden (6-16) and Auburn (4-15) will close out their conference's schedule on Tuesday meeting at Auburn. Virden then plays hosts to Lanphier on Friday night in its season's finale. Morrisville (12-7) will be the busy team in conference activity playing hosts to Waverly (16-7) on Friday night and St. Collins, owners. Evans & Venable, James, winner of only one out of twenty games on Saturday night. Waverly will end their season on Saturday night traveling to Athens for Athens' honor night game. The freshmen-sophomore race will be settled on Friday night when Waverly and Morrisville, tied for the lead, tangle. Nokomis (16-7) ends its chart with a game at Raymond on Tuesday night.

The other schools will be warming up for the regionals with regular scheduled games this week, two teams assigned to the Virden regional. Virden (6-16) and Auburn (4-15) will close out their conference's schedule on Tuesday meeting at Auburn. Virden then plays hosts to Lanphier on Friday night in its season's finale. Illinois Hospital Aid Dies Of Injuries, Six Others Hurt In Wreck

Mrs. Ruth McCoy, 50, an employe of the Jacksonville State hospital, died at 9 o'clock Monday morning in the Graham hospital at Canton, Ill., where she was taken with six other injured persons after an automobile collision Sunday evening on State Route 78 between Bath and Havana.

Three of the injured are also state hospital employes.

Mrs. McCoy's death resulted from a fractured skull and other injuries. She was a former resident of Macomb, Ill., and has been employed in the nursing department at the state institution since 1938.

HOME ON LEAVE

After completing 13-weeks period of basic training at Lackland Air Base, San Antonio, Texas, Pvt. James Tankersley has been given a 15-day leave and is visiting here with his mother, Mrs. Florence Neese, 344 East Lafayette street.

Pvt. Tankersley is a member of the Army Air Corps, having enlisted in November of last year.

At the end of his leave, he will go to Scott Field, where he will study an electrician's course.

Former Morgan Girl Is Married To Indiana Man

Waverly—Miss Vida Mae Saylor, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Dwight K. Saylor of Weldon, formerly of Waverly, was married January 31, at 5 p.m. at the Weldon Methodist church, to Warren Anderson, of Wheeler, Ind. The bride's father officiated, assisted by his brother, the Rev. L. J. Saylor of Chillicothe.

Preceding the ceremony, the bride's brother, Haven Saylor of Chicago, organist, played a prelude of nuptial music and accompanied his brother, Harlan, who sang three numbers. During the ceremony Haven Saylor played harp selections.

The bride, attired in a white slipper gown, with fingertip length veil, and carrying a bouquet of white roses, was escorted to the altar by her father.

Mrs. Jean Schramm of Champaign, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Another sister, Mrs. Irva Swinford of Chicago, was bridesmaid.

Jimmie Swinford and Larry Schramm, nephews of the bride, were ring bearers. The Rev. Robert Pierce of Glenwood was best man. The groomsmen were Neil Saylor of Peoria, Hobart Saylor and Danton Saylor were ushers.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Anderson are graduates of junior college at Evansville and last fall enrolled in the Union college at Barabourville, Ky.

On account of the climate a change was made to Colorado Springs, Colo., where the bridegroom will continue his studies for the Methodist ministry.

The bride's father was formerly pastor of the Methodist church in Waverly.

Mayor's Salary Is $2,000; All Have Held Other Jobs

The present salary of the Mayor of Jacksonville is $2,000 annually. There is no extra pay for the mayor as chairman of the Board of Local Improvements or as Liquor Commissioner. The mayor has no expense account for personal expense incurred on the job.

Jacksonville has an aldermanic government. The mayor is not a City Manager as in some cities under a different form of municipal government.

The mayor's salary will not be increased, although the city clerk and city treasurer will each receive $3,000 per year under the provisions of a recent ordinance.

The mayor's salary has never been considered commensurate with full time employment, and all of our mayors since the adoption of our aldermanic system have held other jobs.

Tuesday Is Election Day Will You Vote?

Injured and receiving treatment in the Canton hospital are:

Clyde Collins, 63, head dairyman at the state hospital, lacerations of the nose and chest, and fractures of the left arm and knee.

Mrs. Emma Jane Russell, 38, employed in the housekeeping department, condition critical; injuries to the right eye, lacerations of the forehead, right arm, and fractures of both legs.

Mrs. Mae Madras, 29, of Lewistown, laceration of the left temple.

Lowell V. Allen, 41, of Bath, lacerations of right cheek and forehead; injuries to one knee and thumb. He was able to leave the hospital Monday.

Automobiles involved in the fatal wreck are reported to have been driven by Clyde Collins of this city and Mrs. Mae Madras of Lewistown.

All of the injured were taken to the Canton hospital by Hurley's ambulance which was called from Havana.

The cars are reported to have met head-on. The Jacksonville residents were driving north, according to information received here.

Mrs. McCoy did not regain consciousness after the collision. She was known to be suffering from a concussion, and Canton physicians said there was little doubt but that the skull was fractured.

Mrs. Collins was in the operating room more than two hours Sunday night. The injury to the region of her right eye was reported to be extremely serious.

The collision occurred about 5 p.m. Sunday. State highway patrolmen went to the scene and assisted in taking the injured to Canton.

Word of the injury of the four hospital employes was received by officials there Sunday night. Canton hospital authorities notified the state hospital office of Mrs. McCoy's death.

Mrs. McCoy was a former resident of McDonough county, where she has a daughter and other relatives. The remains probably will be taken to Macomb for funeral services and burial.

Friends of Mrs. McCoy recalled that she was injured several weeks ago in an automobile accident south of Jacksonville when her car skidded on the ice. She had almost recovered from those injuries.

A reporter for the Canton Ledger interviewed Lowell Allen of Bath concerning details of the wreck. Allen said he and Raymond Berry, Jr., and Mrs. Madras were driving south and the Jacksonville car was traveling north. Allen said it was raining and visibility was poor at the time.

The cars collided head-on, according to Allen, but did not leave the highway and neither turned over.

The Canton newspaper reported that none of the other injured persons was able to be interviewed.

An eye specialist was called to the hospital to attend Mrs. Collins. A late report from the Canton hospital stated that she probably sustained facial fractures in addition to knee and ankle fractures.

Woman's Society At New Berlin Has Annual Party

New Berlin—Fifty members and guests were present at the annual birthday party held by the Woman's society of the Baptist church.

A brief business session was held, presided over by the president, Mrs. Harold Zude, who had charge of the party. Devotions were led by Mrs. L. E. Riley.

The tables were attractively decorated, each representing a season of the year. Members and guests were seated at the table corresponding to their birthdays.

The program, arranged by twelve members of the society, included a style show, White Cross sewing was done and a potluck supper was served.

Cops Launch Drive To Lock Up Pets To Check Rabies

Des Moines, Feb. 21.—(P)—Pet owners were in a state of alarm tonight after police shot three dogs to death in launching enforcement of a 60-day quarantine of all dogs and cats.

The citywide quarantine order was issued by Police Chief Lorin Miller in an anti-rabies drive.

Nine cases of rabid animals have occurred in the city in recent days. Several persons who have been bitten are taking Pasteur treatments.

Police Chief Miller announced that any dogs or cats running loose will be captured or killed. Six officers have been assigned to the roundup.

Youngsters and older alike hastened to put their pets under lock and key as the drive got under way.

The chief explained the precaution is necessary because dogs already known to have been rabid may have infected other animals.

Health Officer Walter Plude described the rabies situation as "very serious."

Officer Who Got On Ball 'Bounced'

Rice Lake, Wis., Feb. 21.—(P)—Rice Lake's seven-man police department was down to six today because it couldn't strike a happy medium.

Recently the fire and police commission admonished the department to "get on the ball."

Last Tuesday the department did it. It handed out what one city official said was 80 parking tickets, including City Attorney Harold Thorning and Alderman Martin Jones among the recipients.

Today Chief C. T. Ripley is starting to spend his 30-day suspension, imposed by the irate board "for conduct unbecoming an officer."

Philly Citizens Riding Once More

Philadelphia, Feb. 21.—(P)—The clang-clang-clang of the trolley echoed once more today along Philadelphia's crowded streets.

The 10-day transit strike was history. And the 3,200,000 daily passengers were returning to the buses, subways and street cars again.

The tie-up cost Quaker city industry and business an estimated $80,000,000.

Philadelphia Transportation company workers lost too—about 60 hours work, some $80 pay. It will take the average employee 25 weeks to get even through the eight-cent-an-hour wage increase he won.

NOTICE TO Jacksonville Voters Be sure to vote in City Primary and when you vote make it DEMOCRATIC If you need a ride to the polls call phone 499.

Primary Voting Today From 6 A.M. To 5 P.M.

Jacksonville's "double holiday" today will feature two important events—George Washington's anniversary and the municipal primary election.

Polls will open at 6 a.m. in all of the city's 16 precincts. Voting is expected to be heavy particularly in the Republican ranks, where three contests will be decided.

The Republican mayoralty contest between Mayor Ernest L. Hoagland, running for reelection, and A. E. Williamson, tops the primary. Republican contests for alderman also will be run off in the second and fourth wards.

Public buildings will be closed in observance of Washington's birthday, a fact which may stimulate the primary vote.

The office of City Clerk John Phillips reported Monday that everything is in readiness for the primary. Supplies were issued to judges and clerks, and polling places were put into readiness for a day of activity. Polls will close at 5 p.m.

No contests are slated for the Democrat primary but John S. Wright, candidate for mayor, and candidates for the other offices are expected to receive a substantial number of votes which will place them in nomination for the election April 19.

Tabulation of the primary vote by judges and clerks is expected to be completed within two hours after the polls close. Results of the primary in each precinct will be reported to the office of the city clerk.

Winchester Legion Plans Fish Fry For Veterans

Winchester—All veterans eligible to join the American Legion are invited to attend the fish fry which will be held in Legion Hall at 7 p.m. Wednesday, March 2. Commander Kenneth Cunningham urged members of Julian Wells Post 42 to invite Scott county veterans to the affair.

Commander Cunningham presided at the business portion of the program when the post met Thursday night. He announced that March 15 will mark the 30th birthday of the Legion and that Gov. Stevenson has proclaimed March 13-19 American Legion Week.

Richard E. Mann was appointed chairman of the high school citizenship award committee.

Hot dogs and coffee were served at the close of the meeting.

Reads Paper On Shaw Chapter EK of PEO of Winchester met Saturday, Feb. 12, at the home of Mrs. Maude Danner. Miss Alice L. Mudd gave a paper on George Bernard Shaw, his life, and his plays. Mrs. Annie Smith read a paper prepared by Mrs. Courtney Edmonson on the life of and plays of Eugene O'Neill.

P.T.A. Meeting Thursday The P.T.A. of Winchester will meet Thursday, Feb. 24, at 9 p.m. in the grade school auditorium. A Founder's Day playlet will be presented with Mrs. Howell Hitt and Mrs. Everett Brockman, co-chairmen. A business meeting will be presided over by Mrs. Tom Coulas.

The theme for the month of February is "Understanding the Problems of the State."

L. H. Krell will show some movies pertaining to the subject. The fourth grade mothers are in charge of refreshments with Mrs. Eddie Graham as chairman.

Winchester Briefs Mr. and Mrs. Warren Breeding and Miss Jean Nelson entertained at a dinner party Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Walker were in Quincy Monday.

Mrs. Audrey Peak and Mrs. Effie Reavis spent Monday in Alton.

J. Ralph Peak and Mark Peak left Monday for Chicago where they will attend a sale of show horses at Baker's Acres Stable.

Mrs. Isabelle Scott, staff director of the school lunch program for the state of Illinois is the guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Peak.

Russell Little and George Peak were visitors at home from Illinois State Normal University.

'Blinky The Moch' Dies On His Bar Stool In Chicago

Chicago, Feb. 21.—(P)—"Blinky the Moch" died today among familiar surroundings. He collapsed and fell from his bar stool in the Skid Row tavern where he had beer for breakfast for years.

Benjamin Morgan was his real name. He got his nickname from the glass eye, even though glassy eyes, rotgut whiskey, raw throats, and unwashed faces are standard equipment among the habitués of West Madison street.

When Blinky slid from the stool in the B and B tavern at 633 West Madison street, one of the owners, Jay Wayne hurried to his side. But Blinky, 64, was dead. It seemed he had been expecting his mooching days were over. In his pocket was this note:

"Please notify the B and B tavern. I want to be cremated and I don't want flowers at my funeral. Thank you, everybody, Ben Morgan."

Wayne said he had known Blinky for at least 25 years and had served him a glass of beer every morning since Wayne returned from military service in 1944.
